

Providing exceptional dental care in Saskatoon since 2012.

At University Heights Dental Studio, we believe oral health is a significant factor in your overall health.

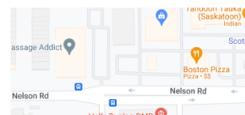

When people neglect their mouths, they're often unknowingly contributing to inflammation elsewhere in their bodies. That's why our office is clean and inviting.

Our approach to patient care is friendly and personalized because it's important to us that our patients actually enjoy sitting in our chairs. Many people (especially children) have an aversion to visiting the dentist and our mission is to prove to you—through excellent dental experiences—that you don't need to feel that way. This means you'll take better care of your teeth (and by default your overall health). And that makes us very happy.

We provide general dental services for people of all ages.

Detailed treatment plans are tailored to the needs of each patient and can include:

- cleanings
- fillings
- crowns
- bridges
- extractions
- minor oral surgeries
- Invisalign orthodontic treatments
- teeth whitening
- implant restorations
- oral cancer screening
- emergency dental treatments

People tend to smile more when they like their teeth.

Cleaning and Prevention

At your cleaning appointment, your dental hygienist will assess the health of your gums, the bone supporting your teeth, and other oral tissues, as well as remove the tartar and plaque from your teeth and any exposed root surfaces.

Fillings

During your filling appointment, the dentist will remove the decay in your tooth, as well as any compromised tooth structure. Then, filling material will be placed in the tooth, sometimes with a medicated layer at its base, depending on the depth of the decay.

Crowns

A crown is a restoration that completely covers the whole tooth. Crowns are frequently used on broken teeth, or teeth with very large fillings or when the shape of a tooth needs to be altered.

Bridges

Bridges are custom-fitted tooth prosthetics that function and look like your own natural, healthy teeth. We use bridges to replace missing teeth that have intact teeth on each side of the space.

In this screenshot they're using alignment to make all text align to the left which makes it a bit cleaner. Personally I don't like the bulleted list format of "Detailed treatment plans are tailored to the needs of each patient and can include:" I think it would've been better if it was like a bulleted list side by side instead of just straight down. I wouldn't want to include something in my website

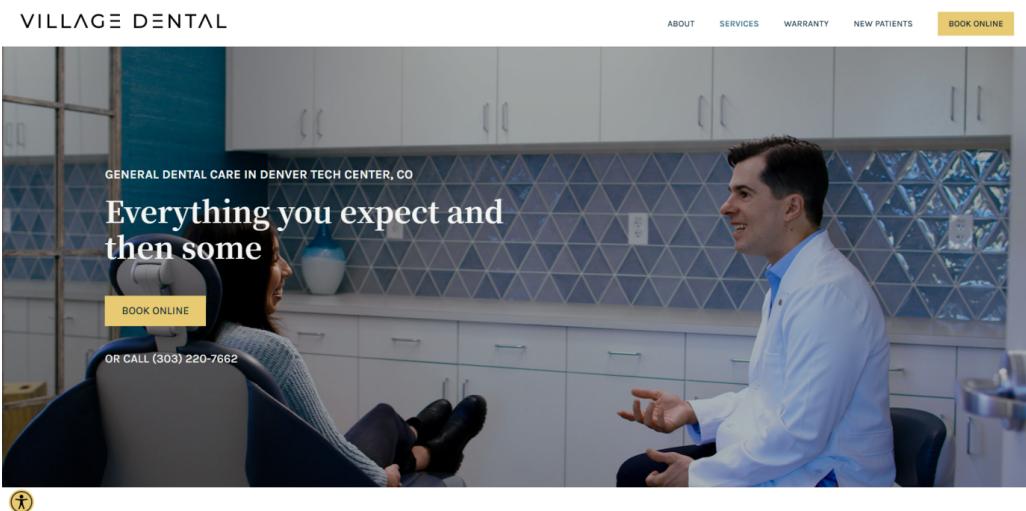

This uses a lot of repetition and alignment. I like the simplicity but I also think it looks really empty. I would put something like this on my website but I also would've put little simple icons or maybe drawings underneath each title on the left side to fill the empty space.

The screenshot shows a dental website with a black header bar containing navigation links: HOME, MEET OUR DOCTORS, DENTAL HEALTH, PATIENT INFORMATION, TREATMENTS, MAKE AN APPOINTMENT, LOCATIONS, and a red EMERGENCY? button. Below the header is a teal banner with the text 'DENTAL TREATMENTS IN HOLLYWOOD'. The main content area features a paragraph about advanced dental treatments, a 'TREATMENTS' section with a list of services, and a 'SPECIALS' section with a photo of a smiling woman wearing sunglasses. At the bottom, there's a Google review snippet from 'Abdul...' and a 'Submit Pics for a Virtual Consultation!' button.

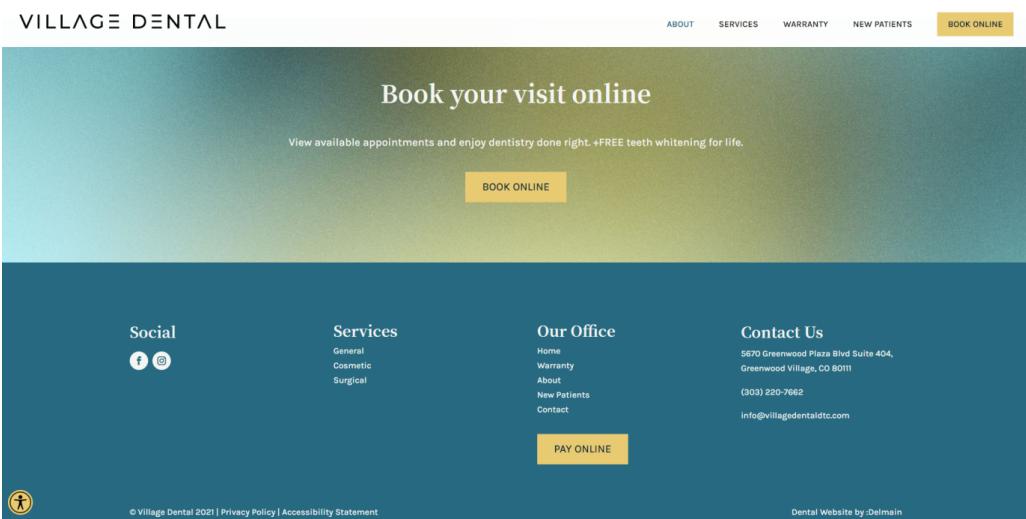

Again, this feels very underwhelming and too simple, especially for such a popular website. I also personally don't like the picture placement, leaving the bottom right very empty with just a chunk of white. If i were to do this i'd change the image to a portrait image so it covers the whole right column.

The screenshot shows a dental website with a black header bar containing navigation links: HOME, MEET OUR DOCTORS, DENTAL HEALTH, PATIENT INFORMATION, TREATMENTS, MAKE AN APPOINTMENT, LOCATIONS, and a red EMERGENCY? button. Below the header is a teal banner with the text 'HOLLYWOOD'S #1 RATED COSMETIC DENTIST'. The main content area features a paragraph about TruGlo Modern Dentistry, a bio for Dr. Rhonda Kalasho, and two photos of her. At the bottom, there are buttons for 'IN-PERSON CONSULT' and 'VIRTUAL CONSULT', along with logos for Forbes, Haute Living, and various dental academies. A 'Submit Pics for a Virtual Consultation!' button is also present.

This is very organised and aligned. Follows a nice colour palette. I like how the emergency button is the only thing that's different. The text is nice, the only thing I'd change would be the Forbes and Haute Living logo and put it below the two buttons. I think I'd be better if all the acclaim and such were grouped together.

I really like this screenshot. I like the simplicity and the colour scheme. I really like the different fonts and sizes. It makes the text on the screen not seem like a lot and not overwhelming. The colours that were chosen are also not harsh on the eyes. The image in the back is also pleasing to the eye and follows the colour palette.

I really like the kind blurry colours, its a really nice image, i also like the footer and how simple and spaced out it is. The only thing i dont like is that i have to scroll through a lot to get the bottom of the page. I dont like scrolling so much on a single page if i cant just click a direct link to it, i dont really see the point. I also think itd be a bit overwhelming because of all the text and images. I would do something like what's in the image thought, its very nice.

The screenshot shows the blog section of the website. At the top, there's a header with social media links (Facebook and Google+), the address (102 Hampton Cir #70, Saskatoon, SK S7R 0L5, Canada), a phone number ((306) 979-2022), and a "REQUEST APPOINTMENT" button. Below the header is a navigation bar with links to HOME, SERVICES, ABOUT, NOW PATIENTS, BLOG (which is currently selected and highlighted in blue), and CONTACT. The main content area has a blue header "Blog". Below it is a large image of a woman receiving a Botox injection. To the right of the image is a sidebar with a "RECENT BLOGS" section showing a thumbnail of another blog post about Botox injections.

This is formatted fine. Its simple and really theres nothing to hate. But i really dont see the point of a blog. I think it just adds more clutter to the top header, because i dont know anyone of any age group whos clicking to read a dentist blog (no offence). I would not add a blog, I think a good website should be simple and shoulndt have extra things like this.

The screenshot shows the footer and a map of the surrounding area. The footer includes a "Request an appointment" form with fields for Name*, Email*, Phone*, Patient Type*, Preferred Date*, and Preferred Time*. To the left of the form is a map of the neighborhood, showing the location of the dental office at 102 Hampton Cir #70. The map also highlights other local businesses and landmarks like Hampton Village Community Park, St. Lorenzo Ruiz Catholic School, and Jennifer Douglas Massage Therapy. On the far left, there's a Google review snippet for the dental office, showing a 4.5 rating from 95 reviews.

I like the different images of the chairs, i think it shows the personality of the place. The “Looking for a Saskatoon Dentist” is fine the text is nice and the bolding is nice, the image confuses me because i dont know what this image is trying to portray. It kinda makes me laugh because of how random and kinda low quality the image is. Probably wont include something like this in my website.

The screenshot shows the 'Contact' page of the Dental House website. At the top, there's a navigation bar with links for Emergency Appointment, 306-954-7801, reception@saskatoon dentalhouse.ca, Book Appointment, About, Services, Contact, Blog, and Referral Page. Below the navigation is the 'DENTAL HOUSE' logo. The main content area has a light gray background. On the left, there's a section titled 'Get in Touch' with address and phone information, and social media icons for Facebook and Twitter. On the right, there's a form titled 'Send Us a Message' with fields for Name, Email, and a large text area for the message, followed by a 'Submit' button.

The formatting of this contact us page is kind of messy and not properly organized or spaced out. If the links were bigger, it'd definitely look better. Its also kind of hard to see the input boxes because the background is pretty light. I would probably also do a box with columns in it on my website id just space them out better.

The screenshot shows the 'Dental Services' page. At the top, there's a 'Book Appointment' button. The page is divided into two columns of three services each. Each service has an icon, a title, and a brief description. The services are:
Dental Cleaning: Maintain a healthy, attractive smile with our professional dental cleaning service in Saskatoon. Our dental hygienist team uses advanced techniques to remove plaque and tartar build-up and polish your teeth to a bright, smooth finish.

I really like this part of the website. Its simple and shows the variety of different services without it being too overwhelming. The icons are simple and neat. The organization of them all is really well done too. I would for sure do something similar to this on my website.

Dental Checkups

Even with a great oral health routine at home, you should seek regular dental checkups with your dentist. For optimal oral health, we recommend visiting at least once every year, or more frequently for patients at higher risk for oral health problems.

I really like this home page just because its so nice and clean. It shows personality does proximity really well, by grouping together the words and such. I also think this colour that was chosen is really nice. Its very unique because i dont see a lot of purple being used for websites like this, it makes this website stand out.

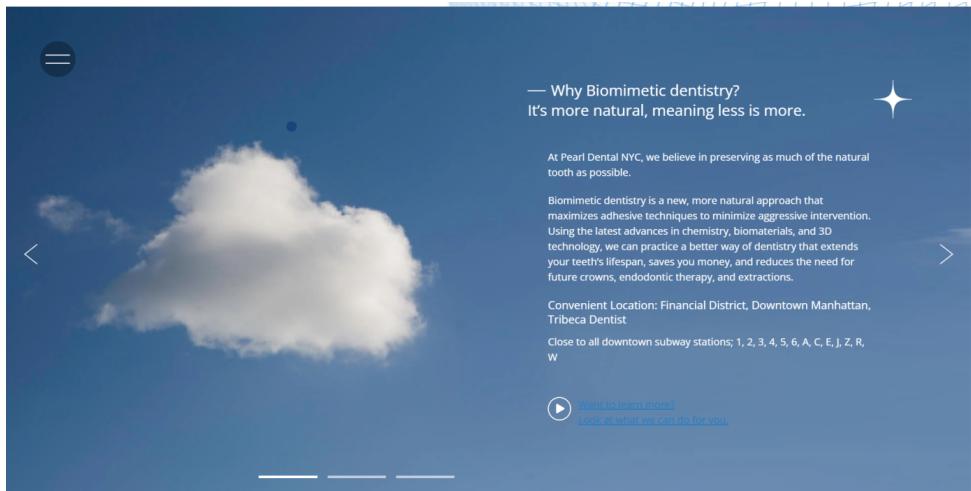

I also really like this part of the website too. Its nice to look at. Easily readable and with a nice accompanying image. I would love to add a page like this for each one of the dental services offered if i have time.

This interface is really clean and sleek, its a much more modern website that includes a lot of aesthetically pleasing pictures than the other websites ive seen. I like how simple it is with the colours and lay out. I also like the video approach instead of just a picture. I will say though i dont really like the text at the top being centered i think it wouldve been nicer if it was side by side. Instead of ontop of one another.

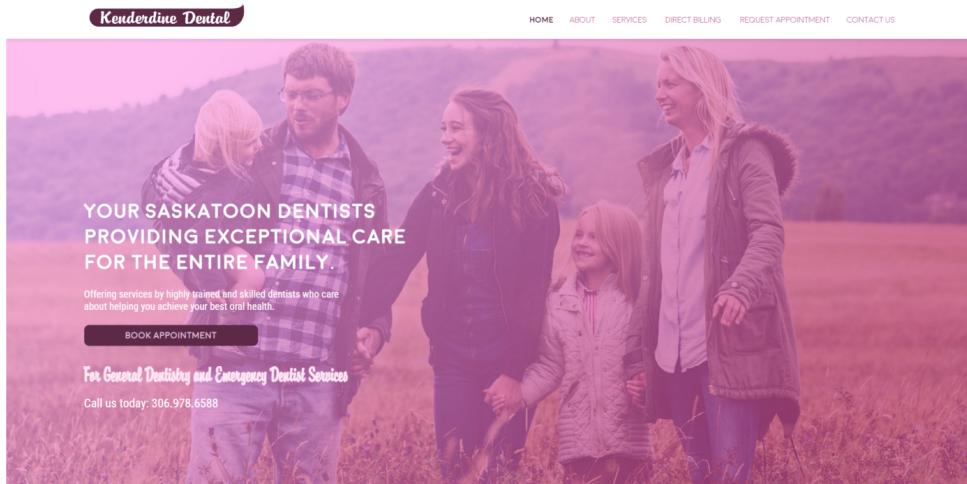

Again, super nice and organized alignment and colours. Choosing a light brown really conveys the feeling of “warmth” and “friendliness” really well. The fonts are rounded and the text isn't all uppercase so it really shows the niceness of this place. Ill try to make a colour palette that is similar to this.

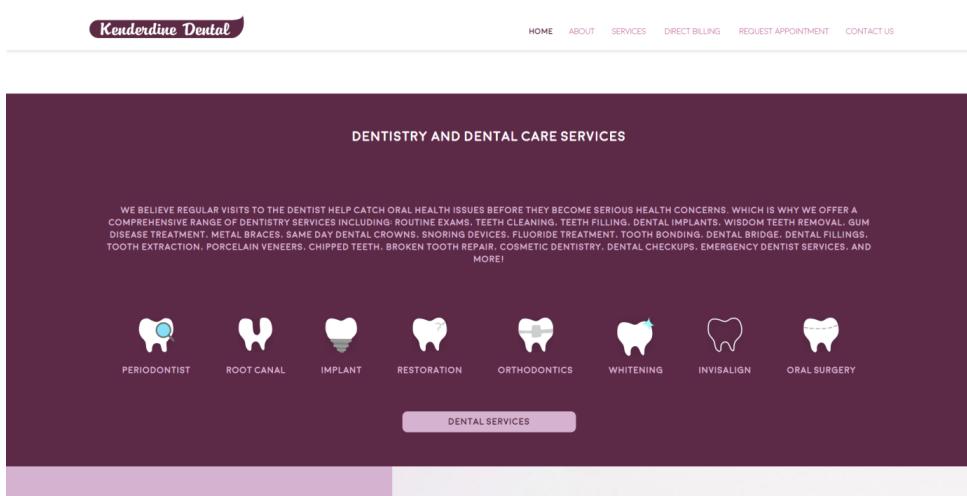

I actually really love this design. I like the font of the logo and i like how theres a theme of professionalism and cleanliness. I think the high-endness (?) is portrayed really well through this website too. I also like the small details of the stars through out the website. I do think there should be more variety of pictures but other than that i really like this page.

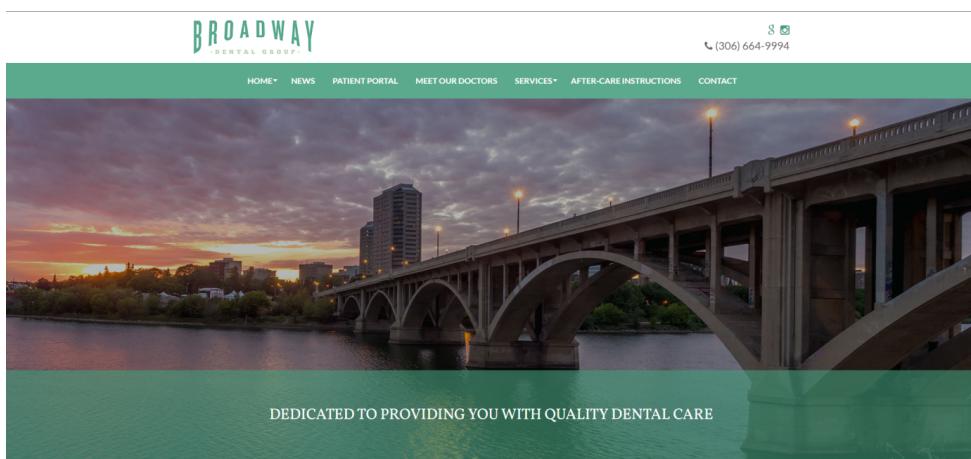

I think the full screen image and text is nice. I see a lot of images that take only part of the screen with a white background so something like this is really eye catching to me. The contrast from this to the rest of the page is really nice and keeps the website interesting. Though the link is hard to read because of the background and the text both being blue.

I like the colour theme once again. I'm not a fan of the text. While I think having different fonts can compliment each other well and make the text almost appear less than what it is, I think this has too much font change and that the font doesn't really compliment each other that well. The sentence underneath the book appointment button is really what I dislike the most. It would look better if it was removed.

I love this page. The little icons for each category are really cute and really clean. I think the text would be better if it was not all uppercase but it's not that bad. My eyes immediately went to the icons because they were so eye-catching. I really like this better than the just text or the grid of icons and little blurb underneath. This just seems way cleaner and cute.

- Bridges
- Complete and partial dentures

I think the colours picked are nice and i like the logo. While scrolling through the front page there wasnt any pictures of the actual office. Not having any pictures of an office almost makes me not want to go to this place (if i was looking for a dentist), many people like to see where they would be going. I think having an image of the bridge is nice but there should be at least one image of the office.

Though I dont like when the services are listed off instead of having an image/side by side, i will say this one doenst kill my eyes immedietly which i like. Sometimes staring at the white background really hurts and can get confusing, so having the services alternate background really helps. I also dont hate the bulleted points next to the description too, it provides a contrast to each other as well.
